

Historic, Archive Document

Do not assume content reflects current scientific knowledge, policies, or practices.

11.6
4.6 Fm
2.2

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE
Washington, D. C.

FIELD MEMORANDUM SCS- #1146

Re: Credit to Cooperating
Agencies

April 18, 1952

TO ALL RANKING FIELD OFFICERS:

The Soil Conservation Service properly asks and expects to be given recognition and credit for contributions we make in the publication of materials jointly developed with other federal or State agencies.

By the same token, we must be alert to the need and opportunity of giving proper credit, in materials we publish, to the work or contributions of such cooperating agencies. This applies not only to materials released or printed for public distribution but also to in-Service guides, job sheets, manuals or other such types of publication. Proper credit is important for the sake of cooperative relations as well as because it usually adds authoritative weight to the information being published.

Robert M. Salter

